Shield

T.C. REYNOLDS SHIELD

Inter-association challenge matches between Gisborne and Daylesford associations used as a lead-up match to Bendigo Country Week. Usually played on the first Sunday in January, associations would alternate hosting duties with Gisborne DCA using Clarke Oval with its turf pitch as its home ground in the early years.

After a few seasons of competition, it was decided to name the shield after Romsey opening bat, Tom Reynolds who had served as GDCA president for seven seasons and represented the association at Bendigo Country Week for over two decades.

Daylesford DCA was very competitive throughout the first decade of competition as matches were played with a two-piece ball. Daylesford used this ball in their competition fixtures and was the preferred ball at Bendigo Country Week. Gisborne used a four-piece ball in its competition and found the extra swing of the two-piece difficult to encounter.

Matches ceased to be played between the two associations when Daylesford DCA began to find it difficult to field teams due to the loss of clubs and players.
